

GHEM FELLOWSHIP 2024-2025

Global Health Emergency Medicine (GHEM) is accepting applications for their GHEM Fellowship program. Our fellowship helps emergency medicine clinicians develop the appropriate skills, knowledge and experiences, to become leaders in the Global Health arena. Through this process, our fellows are able to develop and implement educational, programmatic and research initiatives, promoting equity amongst various populations around the globe.

This fellowship is one of its kind and one of the firsts in Canada. We select up to two fellows per year, and each fellow can choose a curated curriculum which includes 1/3 field work, 1/3 education & research, and 1/3. Fellows can choose to complete this fellowship in 1 or 2 years, based on prior experiences and educational achievements. Fellows can choose to amalgamate their global health focus with one of the following sub-fields of interest: Systems Development, POCUS, Trauma, Disaster/Humanitarian Relief, Innovations, Research, Pre-Hospital Care and Emergency Medicine Training. We have established partnerships with TAAAC, and HHI. Our fellowship is housed at the Emergency Department at University Health Network in Toronto, Canada.
